disease of the Lungs and Liver which is produced by our every varying climate.

Wild Cherry has long been known to possess important medicinal properties. This fact is familiar to every matron in our land, and physicians often prescribe it in different forms for a variety of complaints. Tar, also, has been equally noted for its virtues; and some physicians, whose names are familiar to the whole country, have gone so far as to declare that even consumption could be cared by that alone. In other hands, again, it was nearly valueless, owing no doubt, to their ignorance in preparing and administering it—a difficulity now entirely obviated by patient experience and long experiment.
